Doctor: Hello?

Investigator: Hello, hello! Is this Beijing Armed Police General Hospital?

Doctor: Who is this?

Investigator: Hey, I'm from Hebei. May I ask if your hospital still does liver transplants?

Doctor: Yes, we do. Go ahead!

Investigator: Ah, well, one of my family members has advanced liver cirrhosis. Now he is looking to have a liver transplant.

Doctor: Then you come over here!

Investigator: The doctor from our hospital recommended you by saying that you have done a lot at your hospital.

Doctor: Right.

Investigator: So, how long is the wait time if one goes to your hospital?

Doctor: Ah, come over here. That depends on your personal situation, okay? You're welcome to come.

Investigator: May I inquire about your situation? Do you do a lot at your hospital?

Doctor: I don't know exactly. But yes, yes, we do a lot.

Investigator: Oh, if you do a lot, the wait time is definitely not too long, right?

Doctor: Right, right, not too long.

Investigator: How long will he wait to have it done? Can you give me an approximate figure? How long will he wait?

Doctor: That's hard to say, because the situation is different for everyone, such as matching, or whatever, okay! Would one of your family members come over to consult?

Investigator: How long would it take if it goes well?

Doctor: It can be done within one or two months.

Investigator: Can you get it done in one or two months?

Doctor: Right.

Investigator: Is Director Chen Xingguo still doing it now?

Doctor: Right, right, right!

Investigator: How much is the price? Can you tell me about the cost?

Doctor: What?

Investigator: How much does it cost to get a transplant done?

Doctor: Ah, let's talk about that when you come over here, okay? Come here and we'll take the time and tell you the details.

Investigator: Then, just after the New Year, were you still doing it?

Doctor: Yes, yes.

Investigator: That means that you've been doing quite a lot liver transplants in Beijing, compared to others?

Doctor: Yeah, right. I might as well stop talking to you any further, okay? Right now, I'm very busy taking care of the patients here. You're welcome to come here, okay?

Investigator: Okay, that's it. Goodbye!

Doctor: Okay, bye.
